FEATURED SONGWRITERS

The workshop will be led by four senior songwriters, whose careers have taken them across a wide range of genres and collaborations.

SAN FERMIN (USA)

Founded in 2013, San Fermin quickly earned critical acclaim for their ambitious, collaborator-driven debut praised by NPR and Pitchfork, propelling bandleader Ellis Ludwig-Leone to form a full-time touring band that has since performed on major stages like Tiny Desk and Lollapalooza and released several additional celebrated albums.

SORCHA RICHARDSON (Ireland)

Sorcha Richardson's debut First Prize Bravery chronicled her journey from Dublin to New York and Los Angeles, and its follow-up Smiling Like an Idiot topped the Irish independent charts and cemented her as one of Ireland's most exciting songwriters.

SOAK (Ireland)

SOAK, the moniker of Mercury-Prize nominated Irish singer-songwriter Bridie Monds-Watson, is a leading voice in contemporary indie music, known for life-affirmingly raw pop that pairs lyrical vulnerability and atmospheric production with intimate, immersive live performances.
